

University of Groningen

Linguistic probes into human history

Manni, Franz

IMPORTANT NOTE: You are advised to consult the publisher's version (publisher's PDF) if you wish to cite from it. Please check the document version below.

Document Version

Publisher's PDF, also known as Version of record

Publication date:

2017

Link to publication in University of Groningen/UMCG research database

Citation for published version (APA):

Manni, F. (2017). Linguistic probes into human history. [Thesis fully internal (DIV), University of Groningen]. University of Groningen.

Copyright

Other than for strictly personal use, it is not permitted to download or to forward/distribute the text or part of it without the consent of the author(s) and/or copyright holder(s), unless the work is under an open content license (like Creative Commons).

The publication may also be distributed here under the terms of Article 25fa of the Dutch Copyright Act, indicated by the "Taverne" license. More information can be found on the University of Groningen website: <https://www.rug.nl/library/open-access/self-archiving-pure/taverne-amendment>.

Take-down policy

If you believe that this document breaches copyright please contact us providing details, and we will remove access to the work immediately and investigate your claim.

Downloaded from the University of Groningen/UMCG research database (Pure): <http://www.rug.nl/research/portal>. For technical reasons the number of authors shown on this cover page is limited to 10 maximum.

Acknowledgments

My sincerest gratitude goes to the supervisors and to the members of the assessment committee for their support and guidance.

I also would like to acknowledge the Graduate School for Humanities (GSH) from the University of Groningen and the Center of Language and Cognition Groningen (CLCG) for having allowed this dissertation.

It is a pleasure to thank those that encouraged me, particularly Evelyne Heyer, Pierre Darlu, Hans Goebel, Marie-Françoise Rombi and Philippe Menecier. This dissertation is a collective enterprise: the names of many other scholars that provided help are listed at the beginning and at the end of each chapter. I thank them all.

But John Nerbonne and Wilbert Heeringa deserve a special expression of gratitude for a collaboration that lasted fifteen years and that eventually turned into friendship.

Let me say that I have been privileged to visit so often the Netherlands, and the city of Groningen in particular. My Dutch life has always been very enjoyable.

Finally, I would like to name my family, my mother Marilena and my daughter Clelia. Actually, I had planned to show the finished dissertation to my father Lauro, because he truly loved the Letters, but I have been too late.

Dank u wel en tot ziens! (The only Dutch words I can easily pronounce).